Departmental Report 2020-21

The year 2020-2021 was exceptional because of the COVID-19 pandemic which impacted every aspect of life, including education dissemination. There were no physical face to face classes, and instead every task was conducted online, a year of work from home, teach from home, learn from home. This process was not without its challenges, along with living under the cloud of fear of the virus, technophobes like me found themselves suddenly plunged into the deep end of the digital era. Nevertheless we had to and did reasonably succeed to collectively adapt to this paradigm shift, particularly with respect to teaching methodologies and patterns of evaluation.
